

Hello Applicant,

Thank you for your interest into our program here at Nova Southeastern University's College of Osteopathic Medicine. Here are a few more details about the standardized patient position.

- The position does not have consistent hours. You will be contacted when one of our cases matches your demographics. Each case has different hours. A few cases are performed each month. The demographics of the case can range from male and/or female and from early 20's and up in age. Schedules are sent electronically in advance to determine your availability.
- The cases and their content are in direct relation to the student's curriculum. You will be trained to portray various diseases chosen by the medical director. You will need to have email access, the ability to print materials, memorize the script for the case, and act out various diseases and/or medical conditions.
- Critical skills for the job include being dependable, consistent, reliable and coachable by the physician.
- Hours are:
  - August-April; 8am-6pm; Monday-Friday.
  - Weekends or evenings will be used in the future.
