MEDICAL EDUCATION

ABOUT THE SPECIALIZATION
The Master of Science in Medical Education is designed to help university physician faculty members and community clinical preceptors develop and enhance their professional education and teaching skills, as well as heighten their ability to facilitate the learning process of students and residents. This three-year program was developed in collaboration with NSU's College of Osteopathic Medicine. Learning outcomes for this program are based on the Professional Competencies for the Teachers of the Twenty-First Century, developed by the Florida Education Standards Commission, Florida Department of Education, Tallahassee, Florida.
